With the technology being used in today's vehicle evolving so quickly – especially with the transmission – you need to be sure that the technicians working on your vehicle are highly trained in the latest diagnostics and technology available. The transmission is the most complex system in your vehicle with over 750 working components. Our technicians are highly skilled and complete frequent training to provide our customers with high quality and reliable repairs that will last.

About the company:

Mister Transmission has kept Canadians on the road with expert service and quality repairs since 1963. We've spent the last 60 years building trust and a strong reputation with our customers. Today, we are the leading choice and largest chain of transmission specialists in Canada. Consumer trends today indicate that Canadians are more willing to trust a chain of stores than an independent "one-off" shop. Particularly in the automotive industry, consumers tend to trust the names they know best. Mister Transmission is famous for quality repairs, expert service and outstanding warranty protection. We are specialists, not generalists, with limited competition – and that is what sets us apart from all other automotive aftermarket brands.
